

German Ice Report - No. 03

2018-02-13

CC 11000 21010

FF 10//0

There is new ice and up to 10 cm thick ice in some harbours and in shallow and sheltered coastal waters. The ice coverage is decreasing.

Outlook

Overnight, temperatures will mostly drop below the freezing so that there may be some new ice formation in shallow and sheltered areas. However, during the day temperatures will rise well above the freezing point and most of the ice will melt.
